Some tips for finding happiness

By REV. W. LEE TRUMAN

When unhappy people come to see me as both a minister melor, and searchingly ask me for that secret which will lead them to happiness. I have to be careful. I know there is no quick, near response to this question, but there are some things which I have learned them to happiness it is nevitably a byproduct, and to pounce on it, is the surest way to have it scrape your grasp.

I have learned the happiness of the person's inner stability. This is where a lot of people lose being way this inner peace that keeps us from our not needing the aspirin box. A security which is mortance or other persons, but on our own inner peace, has happiness as its by-product. And second insight mental the human personality is rich and has a wide trange of potential. Dr. Wayne says that unhappiness comes when we forced what his practice has taught him by observing that the human personality is rich and has a wide trange of potential. Is the Kroger Price Patrol helping bring food prices down? We can't say for sure. But after 10 weeks of price checks where Kroger proved to have more low prices than any of the competitors checked, one competing thain finally lowered some of the prices and beat us. Remember, though, Kroger has pledged to do what it takes to stay the St. Lauis area low price leader so we are now doing some price lowering of our own.

Profit guarantee proposed

Rep. Paul Simon, D-24th-III.
Dist, now that Congress has resumed, is proposing a federal guarantee of profit for the commercial production of natural gas from coal.

The Downstate congressman disclosed his bill at a news.

He said the guarantee, He said the guarantee is similar to the agriculture "target price" program, is encessary to attract risk capital.

Simon's bill would ament the country close a widening "gas gap" of the next few decades.

Simon's bill would amend the Defense Production Act of 1950 yadding coal-derived gas and liquid fuel to the "strategic-materials" ist, giving the stockpike coal gas, and providing price mechanisms to to speed coal gasification let the government accept bids and award contracts for purchases of coal gas.

I have the contracts of purchases of coal gas.

I have the coal gas and stochpile it or resell it on the open market — thus assuming the difference.

I have the coal gas and the open market in the purchase of gas.

He believes this would be more than ample because of the coartely and risk gas of the government, we can guarantee a market to those who must seek $600 million to $800 million in private capital to build a commercial plant," Simon "They need this assurance in "They need this commercial plan, said.

"They need this assurance in order to get the loans."

Simon said, "At least 18 corporations are interested in this field," but so far proposals for a Downstate Illinois plant have not gone "beyond the talk stage."

sive in gone beginning the state with the state of the believes his bill would compete with a proposal to bring Alaskan natural gas to a terminal somewhere south of Chicago via a 3,148-mile pipeline traversing Canada, he said there is no conflict.

"We need all the gas we can get," he stressed he has taken "coundings" in both the House and Senate and Congressional reaction has been "favorable." He has "tentatively" explored his idea with the Ford administration with less optimistic results.

"I think there is a good possibility Congress will buy it, but I am less certain about the administration," he said.
Simon characterized President Ford's energy proposals as "much more stances."

The congressman said this transcription of the said.

Adjacent toll and free bridges confuse flow of traffic

toll spans in attracting commuting motorists.

Effective traffic patterns throughout the region are being jeopardized by the "success" of such arteries as the Poplar Street Bridge, whose design capacity of 96,000 vehicles a day already is being exceeded. Part of this volume is attributable to the fact that it carries 1-55 and 1-70, and the absence of tolls adds to its attractiveness, offsetting the negative factor of the long approach route.

It will be recalled that Madison city officials once regarded their Chain of Rocks Bridge as a "goose that lays golden eggs." Purchased for less than 35 million in 1939 and carrying famed Route 66, the local bridge provided employment for many Madisonians and was refinanced under the Steve Maeras administration to provide

Faulty reasoning on coping with illegal alien problem

Press-Record Washington Bureau—A specious sort of reasoning holds that when so many people violate a law that authorities have trouble enforcing it, the solution is to thange the law. This is now being applied to the problem of tracking down the large number of illegal aliens.

Some congressmen are advancing the idea that the government should provide "amnesty" to illegal aliens.

This would reduce the illegal alien problem considerably. It would also make a joke of our immigration laws.

It has long been U.S. policy to regulate the flow of immigrants into this country. There is nothing wrong yith that policy we are simply failing to carrylit out as well as we should.

United States'unique heritage made only in America

We are not worried by the importation of unauthorized Bicentennial knick-knacks from Japan and Taiwan. The occasion of this nation's 200th birthday cannot escape some commercialization, but that is a minor aspect of the celebration.

What is uniquely our own is the heritage of our American revolution. They can't manufacture that abroad.
